THAW'S COUNSEL READY TO REBUT

Evidence, Including Murder Trial Records

Settled Down to Hard Day's Work With Client at White Plains Jail Today.

Harry Still Confident Justice Mill Will Set Him Free

(Special from United Press.) White Plains, N. Y., July 31 .- Coun el for Harry K. Thaw today began the preparation of rebuttal testimon; to be introduced when the habeas cor reedings looking to his release from Matteawan are resumed before Justice Mills, Monday. Charles Morschauser. Thaw's attorney, with a mass of evidence, including the records of the two Thaw murder trials, appeared at the White Plains jail early today and the two settled down to a day of hard work in Thaw's cell.

Thaw, while admitting that the advent of his old antagonist, William Travers Jerome, into the case has made his position more difficult, says today that he is still confident that Justice Wills will set him free.

Justice Mills will set him free.
"I think Justice Mills will not consider much of the testimony which the other side has introduced," said Thaw, "when we show that it is utterly false The action of Justice Mills and the my examination, whatever my mental condition may have been when I killed White, that I am absolutely sane."

Jerome is well pleased by the turn things have taken. He expressed himself as being particularly satisfied with the short examination to which Them was subjected to by Indea Mills. with the short examination to which Thaw was subjected to by Judge Mills yesterday. It was plain that Thaw was confused under the questioning of the Justice who went straight to the heart of the case. Jerome plans to call a number of alienists and put to them an extensive hypothetical question, based upon the facts brought out during the two murder trials, and new ones shown during this proceeding.

WRIGHT AEROPLANE

Washington, July 31.—The Wright aeropiane is now the property of the United States. The Dayton brothers will receive for their machine approximately $30,000 which includes a bonus of $5,000 over the contract price, in the event that it should attain 40 miles an hour in the straightaway speed test of ten miles from Fort Myer to Shuters Hill and return. The officers of the Signal Corps were busy this morning figuring out the exact time and rate per hour made in last night's spectacular performance. From the elapsed time of 14 minutes and 42 seconds is to be determined the exact time required to make the turn around the captive balloon which marked the Shuter Hill terminus of the aerial course. It was approximately 26 seconds.

New York, July 31.—Tossed 24 feet into the air by a wild automobile, driven by joyriders and dragged fifty feet by a trolley car before which he was thrown, 70 year old John O'Nell, a watchman dead and horribly mutillated, was picked up in Columbus avenue at 89th street early today. The joy-riders did not stop after hitting the necessary going away things.

PARISH PRIEST MURDERS MOTHER

(Special from United Press.)

Vienna, July 31.—Joseph Schenigl, a Parish priest at Holycs, shot his mother to death today and then killed himself. The tragedy grew out of the fact that the priest's vows, which his mother had induced him to make, prevented him from marrying one of the girls of the parish with whom he had fallen in love. Schenigl was ordained a priest following the wishes of his parents. When he fell in love he desired to renounce his vows but his mother pleaded with him to remain true to the church. She finally began berating her son and this provoked a quarrel that resulted in the murder and suicide.

Weather Indications.

(Special from United Press.)
New Haven, July 31.—Forecast; fair tonight and Sunday.
The highest reported temperature was 96 degrees at Boston. Scattered showers occurred during the past 24 hours from Kansas to the Lake Region and along the Atlantic coast. There is no well defined storm area this morning east of the Rocky Mountains. Conditions favor for this vicinity pleasant weather and not much change in temperature.

MUST RESTORE TORN PAVEMENT

Morschauser Has Mass of Public Service Corporations Furnished with List of 75 "Bad Places" and Told to Fix Them

SENIOR SUGGESTS PLAN

Representatives of all the public service corporations doing business in the City of Britigeport were summoned before the permanent paving commission, last night and treated to a list of 75 holes located in the permanent pavements about the city, which the commission asked them to repair at once. In the future the commission will insist that the public service corporations leave the pavement in as good condition as they find it in.

Supt. Senior, representing the Bridgeport Hydraulic Company, would like to make some arrangement, under which the city will make all repairs to permanent pavement and charge the work to his company. He suggested that all the corporations get together in the matter and make an arrangement with the city.

GOLDEN JUBILEE OF ST. ROSE'S CHURCH NEWTOWN, TOMORROW

ST. ROSE'S R. C. CHURCH, NEWTOWN, CONN.

As marking the success of a handful of devout families in establishing the dictates of their conscience, the commemorative services to be held in St. Rose's church in Newtown on Sunday at the occasion of the fiftieth anniversary of the parish will be notable Not only will the commemoration of that auspicious event be of interest to the parishioners in Newtown but also to the great number of people in Bridgeport and elsewhere, descendants of those seventy-five families whose love for their God inspired them to es love for their God inspired them to establish the present parish of St. Rose. The services Sunday will comprise a solemn high mass at 10 o'clock with Rev. Father Terrence Smith as celebrant and Rev. Father Dominic Scanlon, O. F. M., as preacher. Grand musical vespers is to be sung in the evening at 7 o'clock and Father Scanlon will deliver a sermon.

It is one year more than two centuries that Newtown nestling at the foot of the Berkshires and rich in nature's yield was christened. In this quaint village in 1756 the first Catholics set village in 1756 the first Catholics set foot. They did not come voluntarily but were billeted to the town by an act of the General Assembly. Their fate is not recorded. However they were apart from their ministers and were apart from their ministers and for a quarter of a century lived iso-lated from their church, when Count Rochambeau with the French army encamped on its pleasant fields on his march from Providence to the Hud-march from Providence to the Hudson. He came on a Sunday and the handful of Catholics still adhering to their faith heard mass and received the sacraments from the hands of the French army chaplains.

Just who the next priest was who came to administer to the small flock in Newtown is doubtful. Some assert that the Rev. James Smythe, one of the ploneers in the diocese, went about the small country towns of that part of the State and administered to the scattered flock of Catholics. This was of the State and administered to the scattered flock of Catholics. This was in 1841. Then there are others who with equal positiveness assert that it was in 1847 that mass was first said. This was in the hom eof Peter Leary and the celebrant was Father John Brady. The Leary home still stands not far from the railroad station in Newtown

After twelve years of services at the homes of the old Celtic families in Newtown it was thought a ripe time to establish a church of their own, and accordingly on August 1, 1859 Father Francis Lenihan organized and became the first pastor of the parish. It was however no easy matter to muster the scattered forces and it was some years later before an edifice could be erected. In the interim mass was said at what was then the Universalist meeting house and later at what is now the Town Hall.

It is well to note the names of the sturdy farmers who insisted that they should have their own church and who should have their own church and who eagerly took the responsibility of supporting it and caring for their pastor.

These men, all of Celtic stock, follow:

TRADE SCHOOL ARGUMENT HEARD BY STATE BOARD

Fairfield County Cities Join In Plea to Bring One School to Bridgeport.

CIVIC SOCIETIES APPEAR

In an effort to induce the State Board of Education to locate one of the two trade schools recently established by the General Assembly in Bridgeport representatives of the Board of Trade, of the Business Men's Association, of the Manufacturers' Association and of the Y. M. C. A. met the members of the State Board of Education at the Stratfield Hotel, yesterday afternoon. It is generally conceded that Hartford will get one of the two schools. Frank J. Mulcahy, president of the Crane Valve Co. represented the Board of Trade. Mr. Mulcahy had exact figures on the growth of the city, and the amount of money invested in manufactures, and was familiar with the work trade schools have accomplished. He said in part: "The presence of a trade school in this city will the work trade schools have accomplished. He said in part: "The presence of a trade school in this city will be of inestimable, value to our manufacturers. Speaking from personal experience and as the representative of a company employing 2,300 men with an annual pay roll of $1,300,000, I am in a position to lay great stress upon the difficulty we experience at times in securing desirable employes.

W. R. Webster of the Bridgeport

of knowledge of English the wage rates of a large portion of our population are at minimum. The condition lation are at minimum. The condition of things places upon a family an irresitible pressure to send the children into the factories the instant the school age is passed. Further continuation of attendance in the existing schools does not present a promise of results in any way commensurate with the sacrifice involved. This is the prime cause of child labor, an evil, which sooner or later must be borne by the community. The establishment which sooner or later must be borne by the community. The establishment of such an industrial school as the one contemplated and the higher wages directly obtainable as a result of the education which the institution will afford, will help to keep such children out of the factory during that period when the evil effects of factory labor are liable to occur."

E. P. Bullard, Jr., of the Bullard Machine Tool Co., and representing the Manufacturers' Association, was enthusiastically in favor of having the school in this city. In his plant, he said, boys were being given education in the apprentice school of the Y. M. C. A. It had been found that the increased efficiency of the youths after their education had more than offset the cost.
